

Directed by Carole Rogers

Adapted from the book written by Maryln Schwartz

August 6,7,8, 1998

Presented by the Fort Smith Little Theatre

In 1864, when Savannah surrendered to Union Forces to keep the city from being destroyed, General Sherman set up headquarters in the rectory of the Episcopal Church. Both church and rectory are still in use today. If a young lady is married in the church she has the option of dressing in General Sherman's bedroom. But as any local is quick to tell you, the room is never utilized as "No respectable Southern Belle would be caught dead in General Sherman's bedroom. It would be just too tacky."

Cast

Readers	Nancy Blochberger Helen Harper Rebecca Libby Ashley Oberle
---------	---

Production Crew

Director	Carole Rogers
Set Construction	James Rogers
Lights	John Gallagher Kellie Proctor

Acknowledgments

Bruce Birkhead	Sue Cooley
Nancy Blochberger	Zena Featherston
Angela Covey	Amanda Rogers
Helen Harper	Pat Gallimore
Deed Wewers	KPOM-TV
Southwest Times	KZKZ