FROM THE DIRECTOR

Welcome to the Fort Smith Little Theatre. I hope you enjoy our show tonight. I read this play several years ago and knew I was going to direct it someday. (I am too old to be in it, so there was not other choice.) The adult themes of course, have stayed, but a lot of the language has been changed. This play presents women in their best and worst situations. It does the same with men, but in the end, we see that not everything is hopeless, useless, or ruined. These characters go on. They decided to enjoy each day and take advantage of the good and the bad as it is offered to them. You will laugh and cry with this cast, and you will applaud them as they discover that their characters aren't so different after all. Thank you for attending, and enjoy the show.

Soni Foti, director

BIOGRAPHIES

- Dianah Gourley: I started at FSLT in 1989. I have done everything from props to directing. The latest was directing Moon Over Buffalo in May 1999. This will be my largest part on stage. Say prayers for me.
- Wendy Quick: Has been involved at the Little Theatre for seventeen years. She has done a little of everything at FSLT. She is glad to be back on stage as Georgeanne.
- Lynette Woodie: It has been over 10 years since I was on stage. I have been in other shows and worked backstage, but it feels really good to be back on stage again. (It's also lots of fun to work with Soni, Dianah, and Wendy all of whom I have worked with on shows for over 10 years.) It is fun meeting everyone else in the cast and crew.
- Rachael: I am currently a Northside Grizzly of the Class of 2000. I love drama and have grown up around the FSLT. I would like to dedicate this performance, Twelve Angry Women, the play I'm in at Northside, and my future as an actress to my beloved boyfriend, Dustin Crowley, whose life was taken too early. Enjoy the play.
- Jennifer Pavlovich: This is my second production at the FSLT and my first play. I must be a glutton for punishment to do two productions back to back. I'm ready for a break.
- Mary Beth Kaprovic: This is Mary Beth's first production at FSLT. Her previous theatrical experience includes four years with Shawnee Little Theatre while working on her undergraduate degree and four years at the Passion Play in Eureka Springs while working on her graduate degree. Basically, I get to sit in the green room eating bon bons, just waiting for someone to actually break her leg. What a great gig.
- Timothy Pavlovich: After completing a masters in theatre production from UCLA, Timothy spent three years coaching Robert DeNiro, Kevin Spacey and Ed Norton. He starred in The Blockbusters Independence Day and Visual Suspects. He recently retired to Fort Smith to resume a Normal Life.
