Director's Note:

When I first read this script, I knew that it was something special. I held onto it for a few years waiting for the perfect opportunity. I can't imagine doing it with any other group of people at any other theatre. The intimate theatre space of FSLT is the perfect setting for these stories and really allows our cast to connect with the audience. And this cast of actors and our incredible crew is truly phenomenal. This show isn't like most shows; but this cast & crew has risen to the occasion and has brought each of these Robert Fulgham stories to life beautifully!

I hope that this show will encourage you to let your light shine out into the world while "holding hands" and working alongside other people. I hope that it encourages you to let go of those inhibitions that keep you from trying new things -- try embracing your inner kindergartner and live your life to the fullest!
