

7/2004

Katie Overturf • "Making others happy makes me happy!"

Wesley Rester • "Anything that has to do with theatre, on or off stage."

Coree Rogers • "Being with friends and family."

Audra Sargent • "Being with my family, holding my kitten and working with the children at church."

LaRae Seay • "My little boy's smiles..and hot fudge sundaes."

Alesia Sexton • "A nice breeze, a slow falling rain and a shopping spree with a friend."

Ron Stice • "People make me happy."

Glenda Stockton • "Singing, cheese cake, a good book, hanging out with good friends, chocolate almond ice cream."

Debbie Stone • "Playing with my great nephews—150 pound Great Danes."

Cara Tongier • "The smell of fresh cut grass, the sound of children's laughter, walking around barefoot and nothing can heal like a good dance beat. I just want to dance!"

Richard Van Wagoner • "Happy/It's what you make with those you are surrounded by. Add to that ice machines that don't break down in a hot summer."

Micki Voelkel • "Saturdays reading Jane Austin with a cat in my lap while my husband tries to distract me."

Jody Vyrostek • "The thought of falling in love, using my gifts to the glory of God and Audrey Hepburn"

E. Allan Watts • "Prozac"

Blake Young • "Imagining audiences in their underwear and tone deaf audiences that throw money!"

This very un-scientific poll says that friends, family and food are most likely to make theatrical types happy.

From the Director:

Once upon a time in the year of 1975, I submitted a wish to the FSLT Board to direct the musical No, No, Nanette. The Board said no. That was over 25 years ago. I was young and disappointed, but I never gave up wanting to direct Nanette. The Fates stepped in last year and the Production Committee and the Board gave me a green light. I know I am older and hope I am smarter and wiser. I know I am luckier. Those three Greek mythological daughters of the night have shown their light on Nanette. Not in all the years I have spent at FSLT directing, acting, and just doing what needs to be done, have I ever worked with a more diligent, happy and talented cast and crew. Their diligence and enthusiasm will show on stage. It has certainly warmed this director's heart. They are happy and they want to see you be happy too. I dare you to leave this show without a smile on your face.

What makes them happy . . .

Tesia Arnold • "God has given me the opportunity to use my talent. I'm having fun and serving Him at the same time. That makes me very happy."

Dennis Brown • "It makes me happy to make you Happy too!"

Lauren Chastain • "Cake! Any kind of cake!"

Robert Cloninger • "Chuck Taylor's All Stars and jelly doughnuts."

Meredith Dye • "Seeing my boxer, Rex, (who's been dead for three years) in my dreams and he's not sick anymore."

Mallory Gallagher • "Going down to Atlantic City, hanging out with the gang on the Boardwalk."

Candice Hicks • "Making friends, music, being with friends and being loud."

Amy Hill • "Playing in the rain with my friends and warm towels."

Leslie Kidder • "Blondes, brunettes and redheads. And, you should be happy I am not singing because I can't."

Tina Miller • "Bear hugs, old movies, good books, dandelion bouquets, bubble baths and CHOCOLATE!"
