Director's Note:

Directing this show has been such an honor and a joy. Of course, I did the most important thing any director could do: I picked an amazing crew and most talented cast. I am beholden to them all and so thankful to them for their hard work in bringing to life my vision of this classic as we stage it for the third time at FSLT. This play holds such a special place in my heart. The Philadelphia Story was one of the movies my dad used to introduce me to the wonders of classic movies when I was a young teenager. It quickly became my favorite and has stayed that over the years. That this is my first full season production to direct at FSLT seems very fitting. I only wish my dad could have seen this moment. Because he can't, I dedicate it posthumously to my dad, Jim Alvey. I hope all of you enjoy this production as much as I believe he would have.
