

Cast Perfect Weekend Getaways:

Micki Voelkel was last seen on the FSLT stage playing as Princess Dragomiroff in "Murder on the Orient Express". "My ideal weekend getaway is a quiet place where I can read, hang out with friends, and eat good food!"

Rikke Workman Black recently portrayed Greta Ohlsson in the FSLT production of "Murder on the Orient Express". Though her ideal weekend getaway changes from time to time, she'd love to go to a cabin or Airbnb with a pool and put the phone down for the weekend. "Family, or family and friends, a pool, close restaurants — I'd be happy."

Carol Sikes was nearby in "Murder on the Orient Express, when she portrayed Countess Andrenyi. Her weekend getaway would include a cabin in the mountains with a hot tub, hiking to a waterfall, campfire and music under the stars.

Logan Parks is making his FSLT debut as Rick, but he was last in HBO's "Shameless" filmed in Los Angeles. "My ideal weekend get away looks much like the show: A cabin in the wilderness with my camera, partner, and dog."

Jamie Lambdin-Bolin was last seen on the FSLT stage as Madge Owens in "Picnic." Her ideal weekend getaway would "probably have to involve yoga, cats, mahjong, books, and coffee shops."

Robert Montgomery is returning to FSLT after a multiple-year hiatus. He was last seen in the 2014 production of "Leading Ladies" as Butch. He recently co-starred on stage in "Miss Julia" at The 3rd and Main in Mulberry. His ideal weekend would be at a "cabin in the woods near a river to enjoy."

Ian Miller recently portrayed drifter Hal Carter in FSLT's production of "Picnic." "The ideal weekend get-a-way would be somewhere tropical where I can lay on the beach and have a nice drink in my hands and toes in the sand."

Brett Short played Gov. Ned Newly in FSLT's production of "The Outsider." "Since my favorite place on the planet - Scotland - probably wouldn't be a viable weekend getaway... I'll settle for a cabin by a lake in the woods, with my paints, brushes and canvas, a relaxing fire pit, good food, my pipe or a good cigar, my favorite drink and either the people that mean the most or completely alone... I'm good. Also, same set up, but on a white sand beach."

Director's Note: I hope you laugh -- that laugh that comes from deep in your belly, forms tears in our eyes, and somehow makes all of life better, if only for a little while. I am so thankful to once again direct on this stage. This show is just bursting from the seams with great talent, onstage and backstage. I am so thankful for every bit of energy all the cast and crew poured into this production. They have given so much and this show is only possible because of them. Thank you for all the laughs! -Tina Dale
